REPORT OF THE IOWA LIBRARY COMMISSION, 1934

MEMBERSHIP

The term on the Library Commission of W. R. Orchard expired July 1, 1933, and no appointment was made to fill the vacancy until July 1, 1934, when Mrs. D. S. Humeston, whose term then expired, was appointed to Mr. Orchard's unexpired term. No appointment has been made to the place left vacant on July 1, 1934.

OFFICE STAFF

No changes have been made in the staff for the past two years. The work is very heavy during the busy season and faithful and conscientious work done by an inadequate staff deserves much credit.

CWS AND CWA HELP

In connection with other state departments, the walls and ceilings of the Library Commission offices received much needed cleaning through the CWA.

Four girls also gave help under the CWS from December 15, 1933, to February 15, 1934, doing mending and other clerical work in connection with the Traveling Library.

They were untrained and two were inexperienced, but all were intelligent, willing, and conscientious in their work and the Library Commission profited greatly thereby, and their retention for a longer period would have been appreciated.

ACTIVITIES

The activities of the Iowa Library Commission, authorized by law, are two-fold, (1) Extension and supervision and (2) the loan of books through the Traveling Library.

EXTENSION AND SUPERVISION

Inasmuch as there are few towns large enough to support a library now without one, the work of promoting new public libraries in towns and cities is not needed as in the earlier days of library work in the state. But the need of providing library facilities for the small towns and large rural population makes the work of extension a most valued activity of the Library Commission, while the work of supervision is always needed in the help given to librarians and to library trustees in meeting their problems of organization, administration, book selection, finances, and in other ways, all of which make for efficient service of a library to its community.

To this end, advice and help is given by the secretary of the Library Commission through correspondence, through library visits for conferences with trustees and librarians, and through the publications furnished by the Library Commission.

This aid is especially helpful to the smaller libraries of the state whose limited finances do not permit the employment of librarians trained in library technicalities or practices.

LIBRARY CONDITIONS IN IOWA

There are at the present time 178 tax supported libraries in Iowa in towns varying in size from Arthur with a population of 249 to Des Moines with a population of 142,559.

This leaves four towns in the state with a population over 2,500 without a public library. These are Valley Junction, 4,334; Belle Plaine, 3,595; Mystic, 2,816; and Bettendorf, 2,503.

Experience has shown that small public libraries, though they receive the maximum levy of five mills allowed by law, are unable to maintain efficient service. Few, if any, books can be purchased, only an incompetent librarian employed, and the reference work so valuable to school pupils must be entirely omitted.

Without the help of the Traveling Library few of these libraries could function at all, and even with this help the library fails to be of real value to the community. While this is true, credit should not be withheld from the librarians who serve these libraries to the best of their abilities on little pay, or to the women in the small towns who are responsible for the establishment of libraries and do so much to keep them a going institution.

This again emphasizes the need of county or regional libraries through which the small libraries might have the advantage of the book collections and expert services of a main library.

Library Beginnings. Towns securing tax support during the past year are only two, Bellevue in Jackson county with a population of 1,717, and Terril in Dickinson county with a population of 417.

Two libraries which had previously received a small appropriation are no longer listed with the public libraries.

Association Libraries. In addition to the tax supported libraries in the state, there is a varying number of libraries in small towns, supported by memberships, donations, etc., and sponsored by library associations, women's clubs, and other organizations. These also receive a larger part of their book supply from the Traveling Library, and are even less prosperous than the smaller public libraries, having no responsibility to the town council or other authority and no settled means of support. Their number varies as they lapse or new ones are established.

Again the women are to be given credit for their efforts to provide books for their communities.

Library Buildings. No new buildings, additions, or gifts for buildings are to be reported for the past two years. A number of libraries received help from the CWA in redecoration, repairs, or improvements, the material for which was furnished by the library or the city.

Gifts. Few gifts were made to libraries during the past two years. Those receiving such help were:

Algona. $5,000 was received to constitute an endowment fund to be known as the Florence Call Cowles Fund, the interest to be used for the purchase of books.

Marengo. $1,000 through the will of Mrs. Anna Thompson.

Monticello. $400 from an investment left to the library.

APPROPRIATIONS, EXPENDITURES, AND CIRCULATION

Appropriations. Libraries have suffered greatly in the reduction of incomes from the application of the Beatty-Bennett Law, as also from the decrease in property valuation, bank failures, and unpaid taxes.

The state comptroller ruled that the Beatty-Bennett Law need not be applied to libraries, but in few cases, I think, were the libraries exempt.

A computation of the incomes of the tax supported libraries for the years ending March 31, 1932 and 1934 shows a decrease of $72,903 with an increase in circulation of books for the same period of almost two million.

Expenditures. The decrease in salaries for the same period was almost $70,000 and in the purchase of books of nearly $65,000. Why the decrease in expenditures was so much greater than the decrease in receipts can only be explained by losses by bank failures, or money tied up in closed banks, and therefore not usable, all resulting in a large decrease in the purchase of books at a time when the people were asking for books in increased numbers.

Circulation. Reports from the entire country, as well as from the state, show that people have made use as never before of the libraries, those out of work turning to the libraries for books to fit them for better jobs, to learn the meaning of the condition of the times, and to find in books an escape from their discouragements. And despite their handicaps the library boards and librarians have responded magnificently to the demands upon them and those seeking sustenance have gone away satisfied, though those wanting new books only were not always pleased.

The result has been an increased circulation reported all over the country. In Iowa the libraries report for the year ending March 31, 1933, 9,493,563 books loaned, and for the year ending March 31, 1934, 11,384,612, being a gain of almost two million in the year.

Borrowers. An interesting question for the libraries to answer is whether this gain in circulation came from old borrowers who were reading more books, or from those who had not before been borrowing or reading. The second is the more desirable of the two, but it will take more time to show the loss of borrowers than of circulation.

CWA and CWS and Libraries. About fifty libraries of the state were cleaned by CWA help, thirty were redecorated, and fifteen repaired or rearranged, the libraries assuming the cost of material for the work. Applications for help of this kind from other libraries were made too late to be granted.

In the case of help in the library work itself the satisfaction was not so general as often people were assigned to work for which they had no fitness, and the sums paid for the workers without experience or preparation was often in excess of that being paid to regular librarians and assistants.

This was especially regrettable because there were many unemployed trained librarians needing work. Their applications for work may have been made later and the haste with which assignments were made and the desire to furnish employment for those registered within a county possibly did not allow the best discrimination in the distribution of the work.

SCHOOL LIBRARIES

Inasmuch as there is no state department charged definitely by law with the supervision of school libraries or the collection of statistics from school libraries, no figures exist as to the number of school libraries, the number of books available in school libraries, their organization, use, and other information.

When the Library Commission had a library organizer at work in the state, assistance was given to schools as well as public libraries, but as all the help allowed the Library Commission is now needed for office work, there is no one available to give free assistance in putting the school libraries into organized form to give the best service.

Such a supervisor, working either under the Library Commission or under the Department of Public Instruction, would be valuable in making the school libraries of the state much more efficient.

The largest work of the Traveling Library is done with the schools, but with a limited appropriation it is impossible to furnish sufficient books to all the schools. The established quota is only one book for each two pupils in a school, but with a rush of requests for books from the schools beginning in August, by the middle of October there remain few books available in the library and the filling of requests must be slowed up until some are returned and a smaller number must be sent in many cases.

A county or regional library system with adequate support is the only method by which an adequate supply of books could be furnished to public schools of all kinds.

The loans to schools during the past biennial period is given in the statistics at the close of this report.

LIBRARY MEETINGS

State Meetings. In October, 1932, a Regional Meeting, including the states of Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, and Nebraska, was held in Des Moines with an attendance of 523 distributed as follows: Iowa, 290; Kansas, 26; Minnesota, 59; Missouri, 47; Nebraska, 30; Illinois, 8; New York, 4; and 1 each from Oregon and Washington.

In 1933 one session of the Iowa Library Association was held in Chicago in connection with the meeting of the American Library Association, the attendance being 101 Iowa librarians, trustees, and friends.

The president of the association for 1931 to 1933 was E. Joanna Hagey, librarian of the Cedar Rapids Public Library.

Mary Bell Nethercut, librarian, Drake University, is the president of the Iowa Library Association for 1933 and 1934. The meeting for 1934 will be held in Des Moines in October.

District Meetings. Eight district meetings in which the Iowa Library Association and the Iowa Library Commission cooperate are held each spring, attended by the president of the association and the secretary of the Library Commission.

The meetings for 1933 were held at Atlantic, Marion, Onawa, Oskaloosa, Perry, Sheldon, Webster City, and West Union.

For 1934 the meeting places were Forest City, Jefferson, Laurens, Marengo, Missouri Valley, Mount Pleasant, Red Oak, and Waverly.

Conference for Library Workers. No conferences were held in either 1933 or 1934 because of the omission of the Summer Library School for those years.

Library Section State Teachers' Association Meetings were held in 1932 and 1933 in the offices of the Iowa Library Commission, and the 1934 meeting is to be held in the same place. Problems peculiar to school libraries are discussed at these meetings.

American Library Association conferences were held in 1933 in Chicago and in 1934 at Montreal, Canada. Johnson Brigham, President of the Iowa Library Commission, attended both, and Mrs. D. S. Humeston, a member of the Library Commission, and Miss Robinson, Secretary, attended the Chicago meeting.

Newbery Medal. An interesting part of an American Library Association program is always the awarding of the Newbery Medal for the most outstanding juvenile book of the preceding year.

Special interest was attached to this year's award for Iowans as the recipient was a resident of Iowa for many years, and until very recently, Cornelia Meigs having lived at Keokuk and taught school at Davenport.

The award was given for her biography of Louisa Alcott under the title, "Invincible Louisa."

SUMMER LIBRARY SCHOOL

In view of the large number of trained librarians without positions, which might reduce the number in attendance at a session in 1933 or 1934, and because it did not seem wise to add to the number of unemployed trained librarians, no sessions of the Summer Library School in connection with the Summer School of the State University of Iowa were held those years.

This was in accordance with the action of various other library schools.

PUBLICATIONS

The Iowa Library Quarterly completed its eleventh volume with the close of 1932 and issued an index, covering the sixteen numbers of 1929 through 1932.

This is one of the methods of giving aid to libraries through the publication of helpful articles and news of Iowa libraries.

The usual blanks for daily, monthly, and annual reports, budget and tax certificates, and leaflets explanatory of the Iowa Library Commission and the Traveling Library have been supplied as in the past.

To assist the librarians in their book selection, Monthly Book Lists are prepared by the secretary of the Library Commission and are mailed on mimeographed sheets to the libraries of the state. These include the latest books desirable for purchase by the smaller libraries with brief notes explaining the character of the books. The comments of librarians and book committees indicate that these book lists are helpful in the matter of book selection as they are prepared for the smaller libraries with the thought of a restricted book fund in mind.

BOOK WEEK

The Library Commission cooperates with libraries, schools, women's clubs, Parent-Teachers' Associations, and other organizations in the observance of Book Week by the loan of books and posters for display, and of leaflets for distribution, thus aiding in the promotion of good reading among the boys and girls of the state.

The theme for 1933 was "Growing Up with Books." For 1934 it will be "Ride the Book Trail to Knowledge and Adventure."

EXHIBITS

The Library Commission State Fair exhibit was located in the Education Building during 1932 and 1933 and will occupy the same space in 1934.

Book collections are also placed during the Fair for use or display in the Baby Health and Farm Bureau Women's Departments, also in the Garden Club Exhibit, and in the 4-H Girls' Dormitory where the number of books read is gratifying.

The Library Commission has continued its exhibit in 1933 and 1934 at the Shrine Temple during the Farm and Home Exposition.

An exhibit of "Books About Iowa and Books by Iowa Authors" with library pictures, etc., was also arranged by the Library Commission in connection with the Iowa exhibit at the Century of Progress, Iowa being the only state of which the library commission had an exhibit.

LIBRARY EXTENSION IN IOWA

The library service extended to the rural schools of Hardin county through the libraries at Alden, Eldora, and Iowa Falls, and of Page county through the libraries at Clarinda and Shenandoah is still continued, though by reason of the defect in the law this privilege cannot be extended to the towns unless they make individual contracts.

The law allows the extension of library privileges from individual libraries to outside schools, towns, and townships by separate contract, and a number of such units enjoy this privilege, either by loans direct from the library, or by book collections sent out to schools or other stations and reloaned there and exchanged at regular intervals at the main library. A list follows, though possibly small groups of books were loaned elsewhere which were not reported.

With 52 per cent of the population of Iowa without library facilities except as provided by the Traveling Library, which has a very limited appropriation and book supply, there must of necessity be many people in the state wishing books for various purposes which they are unable to secure.

In many states the solution of the problem of book supply for small towns and the open country has been shown to be through a county library system with a main library and branches and stations located throughout the county, bringing books as near to all the population as in towns and cities. In such a system the main library maintains an adequate book supply and a competent staff which is available throughout the whole county through the branches and stations.

This not only means better service, but economy also as it makes books available to the smaller libraries which they could not afford to buy, or which if purchased would be seldom used and stand idle on the shelves when the money is needed for books in larger demand.

The technical knowledge and experience of the staff of the main library would also be available for the branches, thus increasing the efficiency of the smaller libraries.

Schools would be included in such a system and their efficiency would also be increased.

With the present tax condition the time may not yet be ripe for such systems in Iowa, yet we have them in two counties referred to above with no complaint of over taxation from the people of these counties.

In Black Hawk county three years ago a demonstration was made, showing how this could be done, but the tax situation defeated a tax levy which would have put it in permanent operation. The demonstration, we believe, was not wasted and in time Black Hawk county will have a county library system.

In two other counties local work is creating the desire for a better book supply which is bringing interest in a county unit. These counties are Dubuque and Warren.

In Dubuque county one club woman, Mrs. Herbert Adams, with the county superintendent of schools and the Dubuque Women's Club behind her, is supplying books worn and discarded, received from various sources, mended and rehabilitated, to rural schools, exchanging them personally. Over forty rural schools were supplied last year. But these books will wear out and one woman cannot do this indefinitely, and a permanent county system should be the result of her efforts, and we trust will be.

In Warren county, the County Federation of Women's Clubs has long been interested in a county library system, and by donations of money for the purchase of books is aiding Mary McCoy of the Indianola Public Library to maintain a Free County Book Corner for the people of the county who must otherwise pay for a ticket to enable them to borrow the regular library books.

While library extension may lag at the present time, it is bound to come in the future if Iowa is to take her place with the other states in the supply of books to all the people of the state through its libraries. The unit may be one county or several which will form a county or regional system. This question of a larger supply of books for the bookless people of the state will receive large attention from the Planning Committee.

PLANNING COMMITTEE

At the request of the American Library Association a Library Planning Committee for Iowa has been appointed to cooperate with the American Library Association Planning Committee and the State Planning Committee in fixing an objective for library efforts in the state for the future. Charles H. Brown of the State College Library is chairman and sub-committees have been appointed as follows:

College libraries—Charles H. Brown, Grace Van Wormer, Mary Bell Nethercut

Development of city libraries—Eva T. Canon, E. Joanna Hagey, Forrest B. Spaulding, and J. Sidney Johnson

School libraries—Agnes Samuelson, Julia A. Robinson

State agency—A. M. Deyoe, J. Sidney Johnson, and Forrest B. Spaulding

County or regional libraries—Whole board

TRAVELING LIBRARY

The Traveling Library has also had a large increase in circulation, the loan of books from the Traveling Library being four times larger than twenty years ago, and twice as large as ten years ago, and the loans every month of 1933 and 1934 have been larger than the corresponding month of the previous year.

While there has been an increase in the number of schools asking for books, the largest gains have been in the number going to communities where they either supplemented the local books or formed the only community library the town has. Also many schools, which have previously only borrowed books for school use, are now asking for additions for the use of the town people. Such requests are also being received from rural schools for adult reading.

A larger number each year of county superintendents are borrowing books for use in the rural schools of the county, and no books are then sent direct from the Traveling Library to rural schools in such counties.

The number of individual borrowers has also greatly increased, but does not show as much as the number sent to each individual is small.

Special groups of books, which small libraries cannot supply, are set aside each year for specialized classes of borrowers.

Teachers' Reading Circle. Among these should be mentioned the large number of requests for books selected for reading by the teachers in the renewal of their certificates. These are duplicated as many times as funds permit, but the demands always exceed the supply available, and there are books of this class constantly on reserve for these borrowers.

Reserves. These are only made for non-fiction or books desired for serious work, but sometimes the number of reserves on some popular book runs high.

Summer Loans. During the summer books are loaned to the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Camp Fire Girls, and other organizations for camp reading.

The lack of ability to supply regular demands has prevented the loan of recreational books to the CCC camps, though special loans have been made for books of vocational interest to members of some camps. Such demands should be met.

Inasmuch as the largest number of loans are made for three months, circulation figures should be multiplied by at least three to show the amount of use which the books really have.

In groups loaned to communities anything below an average of three loans per book in a community is considered poor, and in many places the average runs much higher, and that only represents the loan of a book and not the number of people reading it, all of which makes the actual circulation much higher than the office figures show.

Books to individuals are loaned for four weeks, all borrowers paying postage.

Gift of Books. In the fall of 1933 between four thousand and five thousand books, which had been used in the Black Hawk County Demonstration, were given by the Iowa Library Association to the Library Commission and assisted greatly in meeting the requests of that winter.

But with a reduced book fund, lower than towns of a population of 30,000 spend for books, to serve the large bookless population of the state, the book supply available cannot be satisfactory, and many communities and schools will not receive the required number of books to fill their needs. And yet there is no reason why people, and especially the schools in the rural districts, should not have books as well as the population of the cities and towns.

Books for the Blind. The Library Commission continues to supply books for the blind in Braille, grade 1½ and 2, and also to a few borrowers in New York Point.

These books are carried free through the mail, but the large cost of the books interferes with the buying of many.

Fortunately a few are received by gifts. A subscription to the Reader's Digest in Braille has for two years past been given by Chapter V, P. E. O. of Des Moines.

Stereoscopic views on geography, historical and industrial subjects are available for loans to schools, though no additions have been made recently.

Library work is not clerical work, but requires more preparation than does teaching as it necessitates an acquaintance with books and library methods and makes the employment of a certain number of trained workers necessary. The clerical and shipping force must be accurate, speedy, and conscientious to carry on the work with any degree of efficiency or satisfaction to borrowers.

REFERENCE WORK

The call for material requiring research work comes from women's clubs for the preparation of papers for club programs, from speakers wishing material in the preparation of public addresses, from research students, and from community leaders, all of which continues heavy and takes much time.

Debate material on the question of the High School Debate League each year is duplicated many times in order to fill requests.

Material for debates on other subjects is also furnished.

The reference work can only be done by a librarian acquainted with reference books and books in general as the material cannot always be found under the subject given, and the work is so heavy that it requires more than the time of one person, and with that often runs too much behind to be satisfactory to all borrowers.

The amount of help which can be given in supplying the need of the people of the state for books depends on the amount of support given as additions of books must be made to the library to meet increased demands, and worn books must be rebound or replaced. And sufficient help must be employed to send out the books promptly in response to requests if the work is to be done with satisfaction to those seeking its help. It is not a question of how much or how little the Library Commission can get along on, but how fully shall it supply the book needs of the people of the state.

DETAILED STATEMENT

The total annual appropriation for the work of the Iowa Library Commission is $18,568.00. This covers all of the activities of the Library Commission, the Traveling Library in the purchase and rebinding of books, extension, traveling expenses, salaries, etc.

Inasmuch as the law provides that all accounts and expenditures must be audited by the Audit Board, a detailed statement of expenditures is given in the printed record and is not repeated here.

A FEW WORDS OF APPRECIATION FROM TRAVELING LIBRARY BORROWERS

From Schools. "May I take this opportunity to express our appreciation for the splendid service you have rendered us, and may I also add that the value received from the books made available through your office cannot be expressed in the space I have here." (Truesdale)

"First I want to thank you for helping me so much by loaning books, secondly, the children wish to express their thanks. It means a lot in a rural school where reading must be the main diversion other than games and farm work." (Bernard)

"Thanks for the range and selection that you included for us. We are putting the books out so quickly that all are in use at the end of the first hour after placing them on the shelf. Your service to our school is appreciated very much." (Duncombe)

From a Community. "We have appreciated and enjoyed the loans very much and they have helped to stimulate interest in reading which in turn has led to agitation in favor of a town and community library." (Fenton)

From Individuals. "You have our sincere thanks and appreciation for the good service this past winter. As a rule book lovers on Main Street have hard scratching to satisfy their craving for good reading matter. To such the Traveling Library service certainly does fill a long felt want." (Columbus City)

"I wish I could express to you how much I appreciate the service you have given me." (Tripoli)

"I wanted to especially thank you in this letter for the promptness and service of you and your co-workers. The books sent made a wonderful program, so good in fact I was asked to repeat it. I just wondered if you realized what the library service means to us who are in smaller places with access to no library. I for one do fully appreciate it. Many times I have sent the topic I have for a club program and the material sent couldn't have been better." (Richland)
